SOPHOMORES

Class Prophecy

By Roger Hake

I was making a world tour to gather information for my newscast over CBS, for I am now a news commentator.

As I settled back in my luxurious seat aboard a modern jet air liner, I glanced across the aisle and saw my old classmate of 1950, Billy Westerfeld. I immediately bombarded him with questions about himself. He was going to South America to work as a foreman for Maurice Garnholz, another former classmate, now an engineer, who was building a large dam across the Orinoco River in Venezuela. Also in Venezuela is Norman Kahre, who is a rich oil tycoon and owns a large rubber plantation.

Just then we noticed who the stewardess was. It was a former classmate, Ruth Koelling. By chattering with her we found out that Arthur Lamczyk was piloting the plane.

Letting Billy off at Venezuela we proceeded to Rome. Making a tour of the city, whom should I run into but Frances Selle, another classmate, who was taking singing lessons from the great musician, Joaquin Garcoa. She is studying to become an opera singer.

Having completed most of my trip around the world we landed in Los Angeles. As I went into a very large department store I noticed the name over the entrance, "Miss Jeanette Reinkensmeyer's Department Store." I wanted to see Jeanette but she was out—on business.

As I continued across the United States, the plane had to make a forced landing in a large field. Was I surprised to see Kenneth Eichmeyer who ran a cattle ranch consisting of four thousand cattle. Fixing the trouble, Arthur soon had the plane in flight.

Reclining back in my seat, I was happy to think that of the Hoyleton Class of 1950, all seemed to be doing very well.

This year's band made its first public appearance at the annual Open House observance of American Education Week. On this occasion two selections were also given by the octet, which consisted of the following eight students: Ruth Koelling, Peggy Heilig, Jeanette Reinkensmeyer, Arthur Lamczyk, Wm. Westerfeld, Roger Hake, Kenneth Eickmeyer, Maurice Garnholz.

A fifteen minute musical program was given at the Washington County Teachers' Meeting. This consisted of individual solos and several numbers by the octet.

Other school activities for which the band played were the Christmas Program, between acts of the Freshman-Sophomore Play, and Graduation Exercises.

On May 15, a band concert was given in which both members of the regular band and beginners band participated. Special numbers were also by individual groups of the band.

The chorus was organized and directed by Mr. Brink. The chorus has sung for several occasions this year including several selections at the annual Christmas Program and Graduation Exercises.

Class Will

I, Kenneth Eickmeyer, bequeath my quietness in class to Marilyn Nierman.

I, Maurice Garnholz, bequeath my ability to make A's to the oncoming sophomores, who definitely need it.

I, Roger Hake, bequeath my ability to run the mile to Louis Sprehe.

I, Norman Kahre, bequeath my studious ways to Marlene Dries.

I, Ruth Koelling, bequeath my personality to anyone who would like to have it.

I, Arthur Lamczyk, bequeath my height and ability in sports to David Spenner.

I, Jeannette Reinkensmeyer, bequeath my ability to dissect animals to future students.

I, Frances Selle, bequeath my co-operative and willing spirit to the organizations of H.H.S.

I, William Westerfeld, bequeath my ability to make free throws to Charles Aussieker.

We, the Class of 1950, of Hoyleton High School, being of sound mind (?) declare this to be our last will and testament.

We, the Class of 1950, bequeath our ability to have excellent lessons, make wise cracks in class, keep absolute quietness during class periods and study hall, and our good grades in the Weekly News Review to the oncoming sophomores.

We, the basketball stars of '49-'50, bequeath our brilliant floor work and phenomenal shooting to the "Hoyleton All-Stars" of the future.

FRESHMEN INITIATION

The freshmen initiation lasted from September 21 to 23. For three days they were required to endure the usual tortures forced upon them by the sophomores. Friday evening after additional punishments, such as: going through the paddling machine, walking the plank, boxing each other while blind folded, and facing a firing squad, they were received as full fledged citizens of H.H.S. After this, all high school students enjoyed a weiner roast at the expense of the sophomores.

G.A.A. HAYRIDE

On October 7, 1949, the G.A.A. sponsored a hay ride for the members and their guests. All climbed upon one large wagon which was plentifully supplied with hay. After a long ride over the network of roads around Hoyleton and a vigorous hay fight, all were of the same opinion that it was time for refreshments. Everyone showed their appreciation for the time and work of the refreshment committee by consuming a large amount of sandwiches and cokes. After this the party broke up and those who had been present started home tired but happy.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

If there were ghosts and goblins they most certainly would have been present at the High School Halloween Party. To reduce the feeling of fear, a few games were played while part of the recreation committee ventured out to relocate the loot of Captain Kidd. A short time later the different groups started out to try and claim the hidden treasures. The committee had lost notes of direction on the way which enabled one group to "strike it rich." Food in keeping with the occasion was served to pacify the defeated and heighten the spirits of the victors. By now it was getting late and everyone wanted to return home before the spooks started on their nightly jaunts.

CHRISTMAS

PROGRAM

Hi-Lites

OPEN HOUSE

From November 6-11 we observed American Education Week in our school. Posters were displayed in public places and all parents received invitations to attend our classes on designated days of the week. The rooms made displays for the various class activities. On Wednesday, November 8th, a special program was given. Guest speaker for the evening was Dr. H. J. Long. Also on the program were several selections by the band. During the evening the public was free to inspect the classrooms.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Saturday evening before Christmas the high school students held their annual Christmas party. The recreation committee started the evening by leading the group in active games. When the potential energy of the teen-agers was reduced to a minimum amount, the K.P. department announced that it was time to report to the kitchen. The process of eating was stopped and looks of awe and amazement appeared upon the students' faces when Mrs. Deaton walked in with a distinguished guest. Where she found Santa Claus (D.S.) we do not know, but the jolly fellow distributed the many presents to the impatient and curious group. The students then left, supposedly to go home, after enjoying a wonderful evening.

BASKETBALL BANQUET

On April 29, the High School and Grade School basketball squads were the honored guests at the informal banquet, sponsored by the G.A.A.

During the course of the evening, Mr. Deaton awarded Basketball and Band Letters. The party ended by playing games which had been prepared by the recreation committee.

BASKETBALL

Basketball this year could be considered as successful. In High School, with only nine boys enrolled, all of which were on the squad, we came through with a ten won-nine lost record. Most of our opponents had advantage of size and age, but the spirit of determination to win paid dividends to our "fighting five." "Cotton Top" Garnholz came through as the highest scorer for the season with 182 points. Charles Aussieker took the honors in making the highest percentage of his free throws (.444).

The basketball squad consisted of the following nine boys: Charles Aussieker, Kenneth Eickmeyer, Maurice Garnholz, Roger Hake, Norman Kahre, Arthur Lamczyk, Louis Sphere, David Spenner, Billy Westerfeld.

The three cheerleaders this year were: Ruth Koelling, Marilyn Nierman, and Jeanette Reinkensmeyer.

Humor

Miss Honchell: "Who can name one important thing that we enjoy now, which our great grandfathers did not have a hundred years ago?"
Norman: "Me'."

Ruth: "So you made up all these jokes yourself?"
Charles: "Yes, out of my head."
Ruth: "You must be."

Joyce: "I love him like a brother."
Marilyn: "Yes."
Joyce: "Especially after I met his brother."

Mr. Deaton: "Can you give the class an example of wasted effort?"
Louis: "Telling a hair-raising story to a bald-headed man."

Kenneth: "The world is full of willing people."
Frances: "In what way?"
Kenneth: "Some willing to work, and the rest willing to let them."

Art: "What is a man in his middle age?"
Maurice: "In the prime of life or at the peak of his career."
Art: "A woman at the same age?"
Maurice: "No spring chicken."

Marilyn shopping for a gift for her brother noticed an attractive men's white sweater and asked the price.
Jeanette (as clerk): "$25.50."
"For $25.50," announced Marilyn as she headed for the neckties, "they should have a man in them."

When Billy Westerfield applied for a driver's license an officer hastily thrust a paper across the desk, "Write your last name first and your first name last," he said.
"How's that again?" asked Billy somewhat confused.
"Like I said," replied the cop. "Backwards."
Billy shrugged his shoulders. After all, they knew what they wanted. So he wrote: ylliB dlefretseW.

Roger: "What is the best way to teach a girl to swim?"
Louis: "That requires technique. First, you put your left arm around her waist, then, gently take her left hand—"
Roger: "She's my sister."
Louis: "Oh, push her off the dock."

Betty: "How did you break your arm?"
David: "Do you see those steps?"
Betty: "Yes."
David: "Well, I didn't."
